

It's a fun and fast-paced version of curling that's quickly gaining popularity around the world. So what's different?

- There are only two players on a team.
- An entire game can be played in approximately 75 minutes!
- The player delivering the first and last stone can change from end to end, so both players can be 'skip' for a while!
- Each team can stage a special 'Power Play' end to shake up the game

Rules of Doubles Play

1. A team is composed of two players
2. The scoring is the same as in a regular game of curling.
3. The "positioned" stones that are placed before the beginning of each end are eligible to be counted in the scoring. (See Figures 1 & 2).
4. Games are scheduled for eight (8) ends.
5. Each team delivers five (5) stones per end. The player delivering the team's first stone of the end must also deliver the team's last stone of that end. The other team member delivers the team's second, third and fourth stones for that end.
6. The player delivering the first stone can change from end to end.
7. Modified Free Guard Zone (FGZ) – The fourth delivered stone is the first stone that can remove any stone from play. If there is a violation, the delivered stone should be removed from play, and any displaced stone(s) should be replaced to their original position by the non-offending team.
8. While the team is in the process of delivery, the non-delivering player may be anywhere on the ice surface of the team's sheet. After delivery, either or both players may sweep their delivered stone and any stones set in motion that belong to their team anywhere in front of the tee line at the playing end. This applies during all of the team's delivered stones, including the Last Stone Draws (LSDs).
9. If a player delivers a stone out of proper rotation, that stone is returned to the hack to be delivered by the correct player, after any displaced stones have been replaced to their original positions by the non-offending team. Should the infraction not be discovered until after the delivery of a subsequent stone, play continues as if the infraction had not occurred.
10. Based on the ice conditions, when no event official is available to make the decision, the teams shall determine the specific placement of the Position A Stone prior to the start of the pre-game practice (if applicable), and that same placement must be used for the entire game.
11. Position of stationary stones – Prior to the start of every end, the team with the choice (or hammer) shall place their team's stationary stone, and their opponent's stationary stone, in either position "A" or "B": (see Figure 1)
 - The Position "A" stone is placed bisecting the centre line, midway between the hog line and the front of the house.
 - The Position "B" stone is placed so it bisects the centre line and the back edge of the stone is in alignment with the back edge of the four foot.

If they choose to place their stone 'out front', they shall deliver first stones in the end. Therefore, should they choose to be behind the button, they shall have last stone in the end. The team not scoring in the previous end, shall have the 'choice' in the next end. If the end is blanked, the choice shall change to the team that delivered first in the blanked end.

12. Power Play - Once per game, each team with last stone, has the option to place the stones in a "power play" position (see Figure 2). The in-house stone (B) of the team with last stone in that end is placed with the back edge of the stone on the teeline, splitting the 8 foot and the 12 foot rings. The guard is re-positioned from the centre-line to a direct line between the middle of the in-house stone and the middle of the hack. The in-house stone will be directly behind the guard. The guard position will be at the same distance from the rings as the normal position of the centre guard for that game. The team calling the power play can decide which side of the house they would like the stone to be placed. A power play cannot be called in extra ends.
